I am a highly skilled Python developer with five years+ of experience, specializing in leveraging Python’s versatility for web development, data analysis, and automation tasks. My expertise includes proficiency in Django, enabling me to efficiently create complex web applications. I excel in database management and MySQL/SQL, designing and optimizing databases with complex queries to ensure data integrity.

I am adept at automation and macro scripting, utilizing Selenium and other tools to streamline workflows. My commitment to continuous learning keeps me updated with industry trends, allowing me to deliver innovative, high-quality solutions. With a strong foundation in Python, I am well-equipped to tackle challenging projects and drive success in software development. Show less
